About Me

Hi! I'm Hendrian Yudha Pratama, a passionate front-end developer with strong skills in JavaScript, React, and 3D design using Blender. I have experience building web applications, from landing pages to more complex projects. My journey started in university, and since then, I've worked on various projects, including freelance work, game design competitions, and personal development.

I'm always excited about opportunities where I can combine creativity and technology to solve real-world problems. Currently, I'm exploring remote work to expand my skillset and contribute to exciting tech projects.

Educations

S1 in Information System

Universitas Ahmad Dahlan · September 2023 - September 2027

"I'm currently a student at Ahmad Dahlan University, majoring in Information System, where I focus on Web Development and 3D on Blender. Throughout my studies, I have developed a strong foundation in Next.js Framework, and have participated in various projects and competitions that sharpened my technical and problem-solving skills."
